STATINTL

I greatly appreciate the tone of your letter of December 10, 1962 with its enclosures, and I am sympathetic to the predicament of your client, which you describe. The only factor I can add to complete this picture is the rather considerable contractual relationship with your client over the past three and one-half years, which I trust will have mitigated in some degree his financial troubles. I have investigated with care all possibilities of providing assistance in other ways, but I have been unable to discover any legally permissible relief.

If you have any further points to bring out or any suggestions to make, I would be glad to consider them; but as of now I can see no action that we can take in connection with this matter.

Sincerely,

Signed
